There are several options to get to your destination in Buenos Aires from the international Ezeiza Airport. The most secure Buenos Aires airport transfer is a private car service or a prepaid taxi service.

The official taxi service of the airport is called Taxi Ezeiza and you can either pre-reserve a car online or request one on the spot at their booth in the entrance terminal. You give them the address you are going to and pay a flat fee at the booth. These are not the regular yellow and black Buenos Aires taxis.

The Manuel Tienda León Bus Company offers a private remis car and driver service that you can reserve at the reservation booths in the arrival hall. This service will be the most expensive, but offers the most flexibility, security and will save the most time. The cars are comfortable and modern with uniformed drivers and air conditioning.

The Manuel Tienda León Bus Company also offers a shuttle bus from the airport to downtown areas that departs every 30 minutes. This is an inexpensive option, but can take 1 – 1.5 hours to get downtown. You will normally have to take another mode of transport like a taxi, subway or car service from the Manuel Tienda León bus terminal to get to your final destination, unless you happen to be in walking distance to your accommodation.

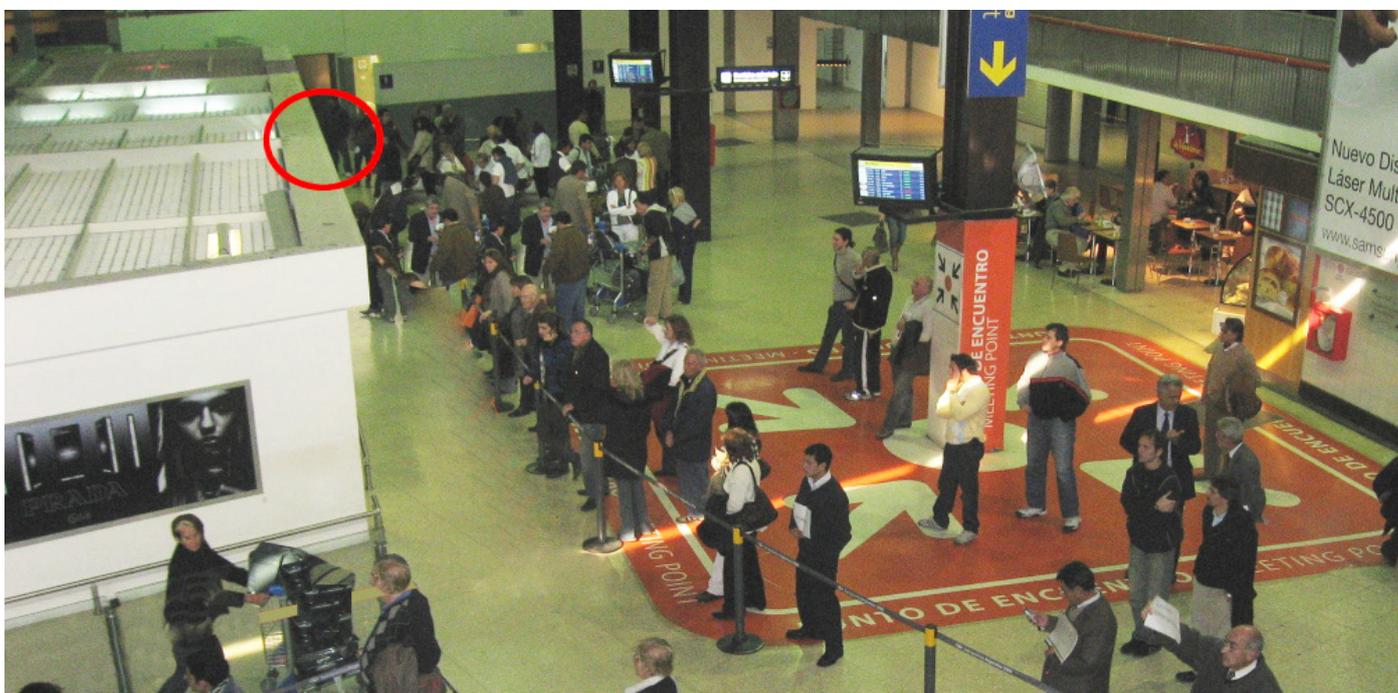

After going through passport control, baggage claim, and customs, you'll go into the main arrival hall of the airport, passing by several offices of different companies. The first one to your left is "Manuel Tienda León".

You may reserve your transfer on this spot, or you can leave the arrival area to the left, and talk to them from the outside on their office.

In any of the two cases, you should have your reservation printed and show it to them, so that they confirm that you will be on the bus.

Afterwards, you will have to be at the company's window 10 minutes before the bus leaves; they'll call out everybody's names, and then accompany you to where the bus is parked. In the meantime, you can change money, drink a coffee, or do whatever you like, you don't need to wait by their window.

be paid by credit card or in US dollars

MONEY EXCHANGE AT THE AIRPORT

When you arrive at the airport, you'll immediately see a booth of "Global Exchange". DO NOT change money with them. They have very very bad rates. There are other places to change money, with quite acceptable rates.

To the right of the arrival lounge you'll see a "Banco Nación", with an ATM.

It's possible that the queue at the "Banco Nación" is very long. If it is, and you are in a hurry, you can go to one of the two "Banco Píano" booths.
